

Catalogue of tourist activities and services

Very close to Santiago

Área Santiago

The Catalogue of Tourist Activities and Services was prepared by Área Santiago, a group of sixteen Municipalities encompassing Santiago de Compostela and its surroundings, which is aimed at the joint promotion of this inland region of Galicia and its numerous attractions.

PRESENTATION

The member municipalities are A Estrada, Arzúa, Boqueixón, Lalín, Melide, O Pino, Oroso, Padrón, Rois, Santiago de Compostela, Silleda, Touro, Trazo, Val do Dubra, Vedra and Vila de Cruces.

This Catalogue has the objective of providing tour organisers with a detailed guide of visits and activities in the territory of Área Santiago.

HOW TO USE THIS CATALOGUE

The companies that organise activities and services are listed according to the subject of interest: 1. gastronomy, 2. wine tourism, 3. culture, 4. crafts, 5. country houses and gardens, 6. nature, 7. sports and adventure, 8. educational and family tourism, 9. health and wellbeing.

This catalogue emphasises the Way of St. James and its different routes (French, Portuguese, English, etc.), which total more than 300 km through the territory of the municipalities making up the Área Santiago group. Service providers that are less than 10 km away are identified by a pictogram indicating the distance to such.

The possibilities of the rural territory near Santiago are especially suitable and recommendable for schools and families. Therefore, apart from the activities included in the Educational and family tourism section, please consult the pages with the specific pictogram for this type of public.

Accessibility is based on the following variables: entrance, interior and/or activity and accessible toilets. An activity/resource is only considered accessible if it satisfies these three criteria, in which case the corresponding pictogram appears.

PLEASE BEAR IN MIND

This information is subject to variations beyond the control of the Área Santiago group and is based on the data available at the time of publication (December 2016). For up-to-date information, please contact the service or activity provider, see the web www.areasantiago.es or visit our offices (see addresses below).

Accessibility data, distance to the Way of St. James and prices were provided by the activity and tour organisers when preparing this catalogue. Prices include VAT where applicable. Contact the service provider to ascertain the final contract conditions.

DESCRIPTION:

The house where the astronomer and priest Ramón María Aller Ulloa spent most of his life is the location of Galicia's first astronomical observatory, which has now been restored and equipped with a modern telescope for educational purposes. The restoration work, which includes a dome featuring automatic opening and turning, preserved the original wood panelling.

Ramón María Aller's office can also be visited, as well as different objects belonging to other illustrious Lalín residents: there is a permanent exhibition on Laxeiro, one of Galicia's great 20th-century painters, and personal objects belonging to Joaquín Loriga, a hero of Spanish aviation.

DESCRIPTION:

The house where Rosalía de Castro spent the last years of her life is now a museum that can be visited on one's own, featuring the events that marked the life of this illustrious woman, an essential writer of the 19th-century literary scene, who was also one of the first women to write in the Galician language. There is also a recreated rural house whose style is halfway between agricultural and aristocratic, surrounded by gardens. These green areas form part of the Camellia Route, a circuit of gardens of tourist, historical and artistic interest centred on this flower.

The Rosalía de Castro Foundation organises tours for schoolchildren, featuring specific educational material.

DESCRIPTION:

A place of spirituality, tradition, gastronomy and culture, this Franciscan architectural ensemble has been declared a Site of Cultural Interest. Its attractions include the Church of San Antonio (with a recently restored altarpiece), cloister, former refectory and gardens featuring hundred-year-old species, including outstanding camellias and a palm tree that has been classified as one of Galicia's singular trees. Another element of interest is the Fountain of San Francisco, located on high ground with a view of the entire monumental complex.

This convent is also related to gastronomy: it is closely linked to the culture of the "pimiento de Herbón" (Padrón pepper) and is close to the banks of the Ulla River, which features weirs called pesqueiras used to catch lamprey. It provides accommodation for pilgrims during summer months.

DESCRIPTION:

The foundation can be visited on one's own or as part of a guided tour around the museum's rooms, centred on the life and work of the Nobe Prize-winner Camilio José Cela. The installations are located in the parish of Iria Flvia, the land where the illustrious writer grew up, and feature a library, newspaper library, letter collection, manuscripts and painting gallery, as well as items from other figures of Spanish culture in the second half of the 20th century. Apart from general guided tours, there are educational visits for children, with specific educational material and their own website.

The museum is located in the Casas de los Coengos (18th c.), which were built to accommodate clergymen and which, along with the Collegiate Church of Santa María de Adina, make up the Iria Flvia historic-artistic ensemble, which has been declared a Site of Cultural Interest. The grounds house are auditorium, research centre, shop and outdoor garden, with the possibility of renting some of the spaces for events.

DESCRIPTION:

The Church of Santiago de Padrón features a large amount of elements linked to the apostle and Jacobean tradition, which makes it one of the town's must-see attractions. Inside the so-called "Pedrón" stands out: this is a Roman stone that was used, according to tradition, to moor the boat that brought the Apostle James' remains from Palestine.

The altars and walls of this church located in the centre of Padón also feature different figures of the Apostle James: James the Moor-slayer on his white horse or James the Pilgrims (known as "El Parrandero"); high reliefs from the Chapel of Santiaguño and 18th-century oil paintings depicting the "Traslatic" and the virgin appearing to the apostle. You can visit this church on your own or as part of a guided tour.

DESCRIPTION:

The Monastery of Carboeiro is one of the most characteristic monuments of Galicia's medieval style, with architecture ranging from Romanesque to the transition to late Gothic. Its style is influenced by Compostela's artistic expressions, specifically by Maestro Mateo's work on Santiago Cathedral. It currently houses exhibitions and has been chosen as a location for several films.

The monastery, which reached its greatest splendour in the 12th and 13th centuries, can be visited on one's own or as part of a guided tour (booked in advance), which takes us back to the Middle Ages to discover milestones such as its construction or the monks' way of life. Its surroundings feature spots of great scenic value, such as the Botanical Trail and ethnographic elements from inland Galicia.

DESCRIPTION:

Built between the end of the 16th century and beginning of the 17th century, this Galician “pazo” (ancestral home) now houses a restaurant that serves traditional cuisine while adding some touches of innovation to its dishes. Specialising in fish and seafood dishes, it has rooms and halls of different sizes: from a dining room for 16 guests to the “Cenador Clásico” with a seating capacity of 250 and the “Cenador Imperial” with one of 500.

The “pazo” has two sun terraces, one made of wood on stone columns and another built entirely of stone. It also has a garden featuring different tree species, including camellias. In 2016 the establishment was awarded the Wedding Awards prize by bodas.net.

DESCRIPTION:

This restaurant is renowned for its gastronomy based on typical local produce and quality ingredients from nearby vegetable gardens. Its specialties are home-bred, free-range chicken, Galician stew, cider-flavoured turnip tops and ham foreleg with chestnut and apple puree. Apart from the main dining room, it has another two dining rooms with a seating capacity of 8 and 6, respectively.

The building is a 17th-century mansion that was restored for rural tourism, with four double rooms. The house still has some of its original elements, such as the oven or chimney.

DESCRIPTION:

This company makes artisanal cheese in a unique natural setting in the heart of the Deza region, in Sierra de O Candán.

Its production is made from 100% sheep's milk. After shaping, the cheeses begin their natural maturing inside a stone dryer, favoured by the northerly winds and ideal temperature of O Candán.

In 2016 it won the silver medal at the World Cheese Awards.

DESCRIPTION:

This traditional and ecological cheese factory has more than 20 years' experience and two generations of artisans from a region with a great livestock tradition as is the Deza Valley. Its cheese production is limited and does not include any artificial ingredients: the product is made with milk from cows that are free to graze during the day and, at night, are taken to stables to rest.

In fact, the idea behind the name Corte de Muar ("corte" is the Galician word for stable and "muar" is the mooing sound that cows make) comes from a philosophy that conceives the basic ingredient as the essential element of a product that seeks excellence. The company therefore views the activity as a chain of cooperation made up of farmers that look after the grazing, a cheese factory with a small, refined production and specialised shops acquainted with the final consumer.

davidsueiroquinteiro@gmail.com

DESCRIPTION:

Galo Celta is the commercial brand of this visitable chicken farm, which breeds cockerels classified as 100% “Gallo de Mos” (Galician breed).

By means of artisanal work, the search for excellence and R+D+i, the farm produces the following chicken products: 100% Galician eggs and meat, 5th-range products (stocks, roast chicken and 40-day-old chicks), cuts from 9-month-old chickens, vacuum-packed chicken, canned chicken and pies made with 9-month-year-old chickens and chestnut flour. This production is endorsed by the Xunta de Galicia’s artisanal chicken-breeding decree.

The farm, by means of its work and daily chores, is a tourist attraction that promotes agricultural tourism by opening its doors to all those who want to visit it and learn about its everyday activity. It also organises packages for companies and groups, which can combine their meetings with visits to the farm and a meal.
